Footprints in the snow

We would like you to write a short story based on the prompt below.

You are walking outside on a snowy morning when you notice a trail of strange footprints in the fresh snow.

- What do the footprints look like?
- Who or what made them?
- Where do they lead?
- What happens when you follow them?

Try to include as many of these features as you can!

- Expanded noun phrases (e.g. deep, icy footprints; the silent, white garden)
- Adjectives and similes (e.g. cold as ice; soft like a pillow)
- Fronted adverbials to start sentences (e.g. early that morning..., Slowly..., Without warning...)
- Powerful verbs (e.g. crunched, crept, stomped, vanished)
- Feelings – how did you feel when you saw the footprints?
- Direct speech with the correct punctuation (e.g. “Stop there!” I cried out loudly.)

We can’t wait to read what you come up with!
